

PROPOSALS for inclusion in the draft normative legal act being prepared to implement paragraph 14 of Decree of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan No.
PF-193 of 11 September 2026

Submitted by: Abduxoliq Akmal ugli Ashuraliyev. Edition of 7 October 2026. English companion translation; the Russian edition is primary.

Section I is proposed for inclusion in the act being prepared on the new system for including families in the Social Registry through multidimensional assessment. Section II amends the current Regulations on maintaining the Social Registry and on assigning and paying child benefits and material assistance. Section III contains five transitional and commencement provisions, including a separate commencement rule and resource assessment for the benefit-date amendments. Section IV proposes a coordinated amendment for adoption by the President in a Presidential instrument. If the act being prepared replaces the current Regulations, the rules of Sections II and III are included in the corresponding norms of the new act; the Presidential amendment is adopted separately by the competent authority. Final numbering is determined by the developer.

A shorter legally equivalent formulation is acceptable: binding assessment conditions and consequences remain in applicable legal norms, while protocol formats and particular control examples may remain in implementation documentation. Section II, point 6, Section III, point 4, Section III, point 5 insofar as it concerns that safeguard, and Section IV constitute a separate coordinated benefit-date module; consideration and fiscal justification of that module do not condition consideration of the other proposals.

Section I. Correctness and verifiability of multidimensional assessment calculations

1. The following basic terms are used in this Section:

multidimensional assessment methodology means the criteria, data sources, scoring rules and threshold values, approved in the prescribed manner, on the basis of which the assessment result is determined;

assessment result means inclusion of a family in the Social Registry with assignment to a category, refusal of inclusion, and a change of the family's category or its removal from the Social Registry following reassessment;

calculation version means the combination of the edition of the multidimensional assessment methodology, the software version and the parameter values under which an assessment result was determined;

control example means a set of a family's input data with a score and an assessment result determined in advance under the multidimensional assessment methodology;

control calculation means determination of the score and the assessment result under the multidimensional assessment methodology without using the software being checked;

unconfirmed data means information for which a reply from the information system of a state body or organization has not been received, has been received in an improper format, or conflicts with information from another source.

2. The responsible staff of the state institution “Information Technologies Centre” under the National Agency for Social Protection under the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan (hereinafter, the Centre and the Agency respectively) shall be responsible for the conformity of the calculations of the “Yagona milliy ijtimoiy himoya” information system (hereinafter, the YAMIH system) to the multidimensional assessment methodology.

3. The multidimensional assessment methodology shall establish for each criterion:

- (a) the data source;
- (b) the unit of measurement;
- (c) the period for which data are taken into account;
- (d) the scoring procedure;
- (e) the rounding procedure;
- (f) the treatment of the criterion where data are unconfirmed, including the value applied if provided for by legislation;
- (g) the range of admissible values of the input data and of the calculation result within which a calculated area, quantity or income does not take negative values and counted income does not decrease when actual income increases and the other data are unchanged.

4. The multidimensional assessment methodology shall determine, for each threshold value, the category to which a family belongs when its score or income equals that value.

5. The multidimensional assessment methodology shall establish an order of applying exceptions and special procedures under which identical family data correspond to only one assessment result.

6. The multidimensional assessment methodology shall contain calculation examples for each category and for refusal of inclusion, including cases of equality to a threshold value.

7. Each edition of the multidimensional assessment methodology shall state:

- (a) the date from which it applies;
- (b) for each threshold value, interval, exception and special procedure not established by the methodology itself, the norm of the normative legal act that establishes it.

8. The assessment result shall be determined in the YAMIH system only under the conditions established by the multidimensional assessment methodology and other normative legal acts.

9. Non-receipt of a reply to an electronic request of the YAMIH system shall not be treated as absence of the family income or property about which information was requested.

10. Where data are unconfirmed:

(a) the YAMIH system shall mark the relevant criterion;
 (b) the Centre shall send a repeat request to the relevant information system within one working day;

(c) the applicant shall be informed which information requires clarification and in which body or organization;

(d) unconfirmed status of data is not in itself a ground for refusal of inclusion, a change of the family's category or its removal from the Social Registry; such a decision is permitted only on a ground established by the multidimensional assessment methodology or legislation, with that ground retained under paragraph 17 and disclosed to the applicant under paragraph 18 of this Section;

(e) verification shall be completed within ten working days of the initial request and within the applicable assessment decision period; if the information remains unconfirmed when the earlier of these deadlines is reached, the assessment shall be completed by applying the treatment provided for in subpoint (f) of paragraph 3 of this Section; repeat requests do not restart either period; non-receipt of an interagency reply does not in itself suspend the decision period; administrative proceedings may be suspended only on a ground and through the procedure established by legislation, with notice to the applicant within one working day; proceedings shall resume when the ground for suspension ceases, with notice within one working day and continuation of the decision period in accordance with legislation;

(f) in a reassessment, until it is completed under subpoint (e) of this paragraph, the family's category is not changed and the family is not removed from the Social Registry on the basis of that reassessment.

11. The structural unit of the Agency responsible for the multidimensional assessment methodology shall approve a set of control examples including:

(a) each threshold value and the values one unit of measurement below and above it;

(b) each exception and special procedure provided for by the multidimensional assessment methodology, and their combinations that may apply to one family;

(c) each type of unconfirmed data;

(d) the calculation examples contained in the multidimensional assessment methodology;

(e) each boundary of an income interval established for a category by a normative legal act of higher legal force than the multidimensional assessment methodology, and the values one unit of measurement below and above it;

(f) the boundaries of the range of admissible values provided for in subpoint (g) of paragraph 3 of this Section.

12. The scores and assessment results of control examples shall be determined by control calculation without the participation of the developer of the software being checked and shall reflect the legally resolved interpretation of applicable legislation. The structural unit of the Agency responsible for the multidimensional assessment methodology shall ensure that questions concerning that interpretation are resolved through the prescribed legal procedure and shall document the factual and legal grounds for the control results, including an interpretation in the applicant's favour where required by legislation. The assessment results of the control examples provided for in subpoint (e) of paragraph 11 of this Section shall be determined under the normative legal act that establishes the relevant interval. A conflict between the multidimensional assessment methodology and applicable legislation shall be resolved through the prescribed legal procedure before the affected control examples are approved.

13. The Centre shall ensure that the scores and assessment results of the YAMIH system are compared with the scores and results of the control examples before the multidimensional assessment methodology is first applied and before each change to the methodology, the parameter values or the YAMIH system software that affects the score or the assessment result is applied, except in the cases provided for in paragraph 22 of this Section.

14. The first application of the multidimensional assessment methodology and a change referred to in paragraph 13 of this Section are permitted only where the scores and assessment results of the YAMIH system do not differ from the control examples and all control examples required by paragraph 11 of this Section are available. Before first application, the authority competent to approve the multidimensional assessment methodology shall establish, in accordance with legislation, arrangements for continuity if these conditions are not fulfilled on the planned launch date or a conflict is subsequently confirmed under paragraph 20 of this Section. Those arrangements shall specify the procedure and legal basis for considering applications, the continued provision of assistance already granted, the responsible bodies and officials, and the time limits for correcting deficiencies. The arrangements shall comply with normative legal acts of higher legal force and shall not constitute authority to introduce a separate assessment system.

15. Comparison results shall be documented in a protocol among the documents provided for by the established procedure for commissioning and changing information systems. The protocol shall state:

- (a) the calculation version: the edition of the multidimensional assessment methodology, the software version and the parameter values;
- (b) the number of control examples compared;
- (c) the differences found in scores and assessment results and the measures to eliminate them;

(d) a record of coverage of all requirements of paragraph 11 of this Section, identifying the control examples that check each requirement, including threshold values, calculation examples in the methodology, boundaries established by normative legal acts of higher legal force, types of unconfirmed data, exceptions and special procedures and their applicable combinations, and boundaries of admissible values;

(e) the surnames and positions of the persons who performed the comparison.

16. With each change to the methodology, the control-case set shall be reviewed and supplemented to the extent necessary to cover every requirement of paragraph 11 of this Section. Existing control examples shall be used where their legal basis and expected answer comply with paragraph 12 of this Section and the applicable methodology edition. Their coverage shall be recorded in the protocol under paragraph 15 of this Section; a duplicate set is not required. This does not dispense with the comparison required by paragraph 13 of this Section.

17. For each assessment result, the YAMIH system shall retain, for the period established by legislation for keeping information on the assessment result:

- (a) the calculation version;
- (b) criterion values with their source, period and date of receipt of the information;
- (c) an unconfirmed-data mark for each criterion;
- (d) the score and the threshold value applied;
- (e) the normative incomes applied and the grounds for applying them;
- (f) access to the edition of the multidimensional assessment methodology, the parameter values and the executable software version that allows the calculation to be performed again;
- (g) the specific factual and legal grounds for refusal of inclusion, a change of category or removal from the Social Registry, including the provision of the normative legal act applied, if such a decision was taken.

18. Together with notification of the assessment result, the applicant shall be provided, through the personal account on the Unified Portal of Interactive Public Services and, on the applicant's request, at an "Inson" social services centre, with information on:

- (a) the values of the family's criteria with their sources and periods;
- (b) the score and the threshold value applied;
- (c) the normative incomes applied and the grounds for applying them;
- (d) the information requiring clarification;
- (e) the possible legal consequences of the decision;
- (f) the procedure for lodging an objection and protecting the applicant's rights, and the time limit and procedure for appealing the decision;
- (g) the specific factual and legal grounds for the decision, including the provision of the normative legal act applied.

19. In the information provided for in paragraph 18 of this Section, special personal data of other family members shall be indicated only as the fact that the relevant criterion was applied.

20. A suspected conflict between an assessment result already applied to a family and the multidimensional assessment methodology or an applicable normative legal act of higher legal force shall be recorded in the YAMIH system on the day it is discovered or an applicant's objection or complaint concerning it is received. The Centre shall check it by control calculation and legal verification in accordance with paragraph 12 of this Section, including where the software faithfully implements a methodology that conflicts with such an act, within ten calendar days of discovery or receipt. The check shall use the methodology and legislation applicable to the original assessment, taking applicable transitional provisions into account. If additional legal or technical verification is necessary, the head of the Agency may, by a reasoned decision taken before that period expires, extend it once by no more than ten calendar days. The grounds for the extension and the new deadline, and the reasoned conclusion of the verification, shall be recorded in the YAMIH system. Verification and its extension shall not extend the time limits established by legislation for considering an applicant's objection or complaint and notifying its outcome. Upon confirmation, the Centre shall immediately notify the Agency and the body competent to take the affected assessment decisions. The Agency shall immediately ensure a documented measure, authorised by legislation and under the continuity arrangements provided for in paragraph 14 of this Section, that prevents further decisions using the confirmed error and preserves lawful service continuity while affected cases are reviewed. The decision on that measure shall state its legal basis, the responsible body or official, and the deadline for correcting the error; it shall not authorise a separate assessment system or departure from normative legal acts of higher legal force. The corrected calculation version may be applied only after the requirements of paragraphs 13–15 of this Section are fulfilled. Within ten calendar days after a conflict is confirmed, the Centre shall identify all assessment results affected by it using the information provided for in paragraph 17 of this Section and send their list to the Agency.

21. Within one month of receiving the list provided for in paragraph 20 or 22 of this Section, the Agency shall ensure the review of the assessment results in it in the prescribed manner and notification of the applicants of the review result through the personal account; review shall use the methodology and legislation applicable to the original assessment, taking applicable transitional provisions into account. A recalculation difference does not in itself establish the legal grounds for changing or cancelling the earlier decision or recovering assistance. Those consequences shall be determined by the competent body through the prescribed procedure, including statutory safeguards for reliance on an administrative act and judicial consideration where required by legislation. Identification and review of affected results do not extend the time limits established by legislation for considering an applicant's objection or complaint and notifying its outcome.

22. A decision to change the algorithm temporarily in cases provided for by legislation, its grounds and period of application shall be recorded in the YAMIH system; assessment results determined under the temporary algorithm shall be marked and, within ten days after data exchange is restored, checked against a correct implementation of the multidimensional assessment methodology applicable to the original assessment, taking transitional provisions into account; the Centre shall send the list of differing results to the Agency, which shall ensure their review in the manner and within the period provided for in paragraph 21 of this Section.

23. This Section shall be implemented within the funds lawfully allocated for maintaining and developing the YAMIH system. Before first use, the Agency, jointly with the Ministry of Economy and Finance of the Republic of Uzbekistan (hereinafter, the Ministry), shall document, on the basis of dated administrative records, the costs and workload of software changes, retention of calculation versions and records, independent control examples, explanations to applicants and review of earlier assessments, together with the available staff, handling times, contractual capacity and funding. The assessment shall identify the applicable appropriations and any additional need, and the Agency and the Ministry shall obtain the required budgetary, contractual and staffing decisions in the prescribed manner. The documented assessment shall be submitted to the authority competent to approve the multidimensional assessment methodology and included in the established commissioning records. Availability of funds and capacity shall not be presumed without supporting records. Where a gap is identified, the Agency and the Ministry shall seek the lawful decisions required to address it, and the continuity arrangements under paragraph 14 of this Section shall apply; absence of resources or an assessment shall not suspend statutory application deadlines or the lawful provision of assistance. Before additional need is calculated, existing control procedures, records and capacity under current contracts shall be accounted for; duplicate tasks shall be excluded and uncovered tasks identified separately.

Section II. Amendments to Resolution of the Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Uzbekistan No. 35 of 29 January 2026

Paragraphs 1–5 amend the Regulation on the Procedure for Maintaining the Social Registry (Annex 1). The Regulations are officially published in the state language. The exact wording of the amendments in the state language is given in the Uzbek edition of this Material and in the comparison table of Material 2.

1. In the first paragraph of point 26, replace the words “or the amount of transfers is less than twice the minimum wage” with the words “or the monthly average amount of transfers from a family member working or carrying on entrepreneurial or other activity abroad is less than the normative income established for that member by this point”.

2. Supplement point 27, after the sixth paragraph, with a paragraph reading:

“If the TEM value determined by the formula is negative, TEM shall be taken as zero.”

3. In subpoint “a” of point 33, replace the words “higher than minimum consumption expenditure” with the words “equal to or higher than minimum consumption expenditure”.

4. Supplement point 37 with a second paragraph reading:

“At the same time, through the personal account on the Unified Portal of Interactive Public Services and, on the applicant’s request, at an ‘Inson’ social services centre, the applicant shall be provided with information on the data on which the decision was based, the specific factual and legal grounds for the decision, including the provision of the normative legal act applied, the normative incomes applied, the decision-making procedure, its possible legal consequences, the procedure for lodging an objection and protecting the applicant’s rights, and the time limit and procedure for appealing the decision. Special personal data of other family members shall be indicated only as the fact that the relevant criterion was applied.”

5. Supplement point 44 with a second paragraph reading:

“In this case the applicant shall be provided with the information provided for in the second paragraph of point 37 of this Regulation, except in the cases provided for in the fifth and sixth paragraphs of point 42 of this Regulation.”

6. In the Regulation on the Procedure for Assigning and Paying Child Benefits and Material Assistance to Families Included in the Social Registry (Annex 3):

(a) supplement point 10 with a third paragraph reading:

“Where inclusion in the Registry or consideration of the application is delayed solely because of delayed interagency information or failure of the competent bodies’ information systems, and subsequent verification establishes that the family met the applicable Registry and benefit eligibility conditions at the time when the application would lawfully have been decided without that delay, the month for determining benefit commencement shall be the month in which the application would have been considered under this point without that delay. The competent body shall document the original application date, the applicable processing dates, the cause of the delay and the evidence of eligibility at the relevant time, and, for a family in the ‘family at the poverty boundary’ category, the protected category-entry date determined under the ninth paragraph of point 13 of this Regulation, the actual technical category-entry date and the single six-month window under that paragraph. Eligibility first acquired after the relevant lawful time shall not be backdated.”

(b) supplement point 11 with a second paragraph reading:

“In the cases provided for in the third paragraph of point 10 of this Regulation, the child benefit or material assistance shall be assigned and paid from the month following the month determined under that paragraph. Amounts due for elapsed months in which the family was eligible shall be calculated and paid through the prescribed payment procedure; for a family in the ‘family at the poverty boundary’ category, those months shall be restricted to the six-month window determined under the ninth paragraph of point 13 of this Regulation. An amount already paid for the same month shall not be paid again.”

(c) supplement point 12 with a fifth paragraph reading:

“Where the third paragraph of point 10 of this Regulation applies to a family in the ‘family at the poverty boundary’ category, the six-month refusal condition in this point shall be tested at the date of the original initial submission of the benefit application, using the protected category-entry date determined under the ninth paragraph of point 13 of this Regulation. Later processing, recalculation, or a repeated or refiled application shall not replace that original submission date for this purpose. An established claim for an eligible elapsed month under the second paragraph of point 11 of this Regulation shall not be refused solely because processing was completed later. Other lawful grounds for refusal remain applicable.”

(d) supplement point 13 with a ninth paragraph reading:

“For a family in the ‘family at the poverty boundary’ category to which the third paragraph of point 10 of this Regulation applies, the competent body shall, by a reasoned decision based on evidence that the original category and benefit eligibility conditions were met at the relevant lawful time, determine, solely for benefit purposes, the protected category-entry date as the date on which entry into that category would lawfully have occurred without the delay. The actual technical category-entry date shall be retained separately. The protected date shall not restart or otherwise alter periods for Registry reassessment or other state social support. Benefit entitlement is confined to the six calendar months following the month of the protected category-entry date. Delayed processing, actual entry or payment shall neither restart nor extend that window. Amounts are due only for eligible months within that window, beginning no earlier than the benefit commencement month determined under the second paragraph of point 11 of this Regulation; other lawful grounds for earlier termination remain applicable.”

(e) supplement point 18 with a second paragraph reading:

“In the cases provided for in the third paragraph of point 10 of this Regulation, payment shall commence from the first day of the month following the month determined under that paragraph, including the amounts due for elapsed eligible months under the second paragraph of point 11 of this Regulation. For a family in the ‘family at the poverty boundary’ category, payment shall be confined to eligible months within the six-month window determined under the ninth paragraph of point 13 of this Regulation.”

(f) supplement point 23 with a third paragraph reading:

“In the cases provided for in the third paragraph of point 10 of this Regulation, budget-related deferral of payment under this point shall not create an additional eligible month or restart the six-month window for a family in the ‘family at the poverty boundary’ category. After that window expires, arrears may be paid under the second paragraph of point 11 of this Regulation only for eligible months within the window determined under the ninth paragraph of point 13 of this Regulation.”

(g) supplement point 26 with a final paragraph reading:

“Notwithstanding the rule in the first paragraph of this point on termination from the month following detection, for a family in the ‘family at the poverty boundary’ category to which the third paragraph of point 10 of this Regulation applies, entitlement ends from the first day of the month following the sixth calendar month after the month of the protected category-entry date determined under the ninth paragraph of point 13 of this Regulation, regardless of the dates of detection, actual technical entry, processing or payment. Expiry does not prevent payment of arrears under the second paragraph of point 11 of this Regulation for earlier eligible months within that window. Other lawful grounds for earlier termination remain applicable.”

Section III. Transitional and commencement provisions

1. The amendments provided for in paragraphs 1–3 of Section II apply to applications considered after their entry into force.

2. For families included in the Social Registry before the amendments enter into force, the amendments apply:

(a) to a “state-supported family” and a “poor family” — from the re-completion of the questionnaire under the second paragraph of point 40 of the Regulation;

(b) to a “family at the poverty boundary” — from the end of the twelve-month period provided for in the fourth paragraph of point 42 of the Regulation.

3. Until the dates specified in paragraph 2 of this Section, a change of a family’s category or its removal from the Social Registry is not permitted if it results solely from applying the amendments provided for in paragraphs 1–3 of Section II; the consequences of changes in the family’s composition, income, property and other circumstances are determined in the prescribed manner under the rules in force before the amendments entered into force.

4. Paragraph 6 of Section II and the coordinated benefit exception proposed in Section IV apply only where the initial benefit request and, if inclusion in the Registry was also requested, the initial linked Registry request were first submitted on or after the later of the entry-into-force dates of the coordinated Presidential amendment and the implementing norms provided for in paragraph 6 of Section II (hereinafter, the joint commencement date). Earlier pending or concluded requests remain governed by the legislation and transitional provisions applicable to them, with existing correction, objection and complaint rights preserved; the new exception does not automatically reopen them. A repeated or refiled request does not reset the original submission date or the six-month window. Payments under the new exception may not relate to a period before the joint commencement date.

5. Before paragraph 6 of Section II is applied, the Agency, jointly with the Ministry, shall document, using dated administrative records, the cost and workload of establishing protected dates and original eligibility, recordkeeping, system changes, payments and arrears, together with the staff, handling times, funding and contractual capacity required. The assessment shall identify applicable appropriations and additional need, and the required funding, contractual and staffing decisions shall be obtained in the prescribed manner. The documented assessment shall be submitted to the authority competent to approve the implementing norms. Funds and capacity shall not be presumed without supporting records; any gap shall be addressed through lawful decisions. Absence of that assessment or resources shall not pause existing lawful duties to consider applications and pay assistance.

Section IV. Coordinated amendment to Presidential Decree No. PF-258 of 26 December 2025

This proposal is submitted for adoption by the President in a Presidential instrument, coordinated with the Cabinet amendments in Section II. It does not confer authority on the Cabinet of Ministers to amend the Decree.

1. Supplement item (i) of subparagraph (v) of paragraph 5 with a paragraph reading:

“Where inclusion of a family in the ‘family at the poverty boundary’ category or consideration of its benefit application is delayed solely because of delayed interagency information or failure of the competent bodies’ information systems, and verification establishes that the family met the original category and benefit eligibility conditions at the time when the application would lawfully have been decided without that delay, the competent body shall, by a reasoned decision and solely for benefit purposes, determine a protected category-entry date as the date on which entry into that category would lawfully have occurred without the delay; the actual technical entry date shall be retained separately. The protected date shall not restart or otherwise alter periods for Registry reassessment or other state social support. As an exception to the period specified in this item, benefit entitlement is confined to the six calendar months following the month of the protected category-entry date. Delayed processing, actual entry or payment shall neither restart nor extend that window or create an additional eligible month. Payment, including arrears paid after expiry, is permitted only from lawful benefit commencement and for months within that window in which the family met the applicable benefit eligibility conditions, subject to the other lawful grounds for earlier termination and the procedure established by legislation; amounts already paid for the same month shall not be paid again. This exception applies only where the initial benefit request and, if Registry inclusion was also requested, the initial linked Registry request were first submitted on or after the later of the entry-into-force dates of this exception and the coordinated implementing norms. A repeated or refiled request does not reset the original submission date or the six-month window.”
